

The Carnegie Office Building

Teague Nall and Perkins, Inc. is proud to be a part of one of the newest and most exciting additions to Downtown Fort Worth's Sundance Square. The Carnegie, expected to open in June 2008, will be a 16-story, 280,000 square-foot Class A office building across from the Fort Worth Central Library and the Chase Bank Building.

TNP, while teaming up with David M. Schwartz Architectural Services Inc., BOKA Powell, and The Projects Group, worked closely with the city and design team to provide civil engineering services for this project.

The designer of The Carnegie, David M. Schwartz Architectural Services Inc., is also the designer of other distinguished buildings such as Bass Performance Hall in Downtown Fort Worth, American Airlines Center in Dallas, and Amerquest Field in Arlington.

TNP is thrilled to be a part of such a talented design team on a landmark project like The Carnegie. The building will provide superior amenities and state-of-the-art technology to local businesses, allowing them to attain new levels of success. It will also be another jewel in the crown of a redeveloped and revitalized downtown Fort Worth.
